FREAR ASKS QUESTIONS

Pain's Disavowal of Attorneys
In Court.

STANLEY ASKED TO SHOW AUTHORITY

Supreme Court Has a Little Fun in Hearing of Motion in Tramways Case.

Pain's transgressions are coming home to roost. When the Hawaiian Tramways Company applied to Judge Estee a few months ago for an injunction against the Honolulu Rapid Transit Co., the latter pleaded in defense a final adjudication of the same issues in the Territorial Supreme Court. Then Pain came in with an affidavit to the effect that Holmes & Stanley, who prosecuted the case in the Supreme Court did so without authority. Upon that showing the Rapid Transit Co. presented an order for Pain's new attorneys, Dunne & De Bolt, to show their authority to act in the Federal Court, which they were compelled to do. Yesterday at the opening of the Supreme Court, Judge Stanley appeared with a decree of judgment of that court which he wished to have signed for appeal. Mr. McClanahan, for the Rapid Transit Co., objected on the ground that it did not set out the judgment of the court, in that only a portion of King street was decreed to be opened to the Rapid Transit Co., while the Supreme Court in reality decided that the Tramways Co. had no exclusive franchise to any of the streets of Honolulu. He contended further that under the decree Judge Stanley asked to have signed, the Tramways could come into court again to show their exclusive right to some other street. This point he argued had been made in the United States Court, and Pain had been thrown out of court as to the first section of King street, and afterwards, when another portion of King street was claimed exclusively by the Tramways Co., that corporation had again been ruled against by Judge Estee.

Judge Stanley contended that the simple question decided by the Supreme Court was as to the exclusive right of the Hawaiian Tramways Co., to King street, between Nuuanu street and Thomas Square, and portions of the submission were recited to show that. At the conclusion of Judge Stanley's argument Chief Justice Frear asked with a twinkle:

"What company are you attorney for, Mr. Stanley?"

"The Hawaiian Tramways Co., certainly," responded the attorney, while a smile spread quickly to the features of the august members of the Supreme Court, and others in the court room, who remembered Pain's disavowal of his attorneys in the United States Court.

"Have you authority to act in this matter?" the Chief Justice again asked, while the titter in the court room became more pronounced.

"That has never been disputed, has it?" Mr. Stanley replied.

"How about in the United States Court?" Mr. McClanahan interrupted.

"We never disputed it there; we were not in that court," replied Pain's attorneys.

"I guess we will have to ask for a rule to show your authority?" McClanahan said banteringly, and then the matter dropped.

The judgment was finally approved by the Supreme Court with a few slight modifications.

FIRST ROUND OF PING PONG PLAY

Play of the first round of the Elks' ping-pong tournament was begun yesterday, and four games were worked off, some as fine play as will be seen during the tournament being witnessed. The games disposed of at least one candidate for the finals, for Blackman was defeated by Coney in two straight sets. Another favorite was sent to the bench when Henry Roth was backed out by Dr. Howard, the former winning one game, however.

The Roth-Howard game was one of the fastest in the series. Roth took a 6-8 set, playing well back and cutting finely, but he fell down later and Howard won after one strong set at 7-5, and a slower one, 6-3. The defeat of Prince David by P. Lowell was outside the calculations, too, for it was supposed David would show better. This game, like the preceding one, left the Prince with only one set, 5-7, those against him being at longer odds. The scores were as follows:

Coney vs. Blackman. Coney wins, 7-5, 6-1.
Dr. Howard vs. H. Roth. Howard wins, 6-3, 7-5.
Lowell defeated Prince David, 6-3, 6-4.
S. Chillingworth defeated A. F. Judd, 6-2 and 6-3.
